

In June of 2018, Minniffee was awarded the Order of the University of Calgary for his record of exemplary and distinguished service to UCalgary. Today, he serves on the UCalgary Alumni Association Board and Legacy Giving Advisory Group.

His numerous contributions almost seem impossible for one man, but for Minniffee, supporting UCalgary is an easy choice. “The University of Calgary is one of our city’s most valued treasures,” he says. “I feel I’ve had the key to this treasure chest and witnessed firsthand the magnitude of UCalgary’s reach and its relevance to the growth and vibrancy of our great city.”

On and off the court, Minniffee is a true UCalgary champion.

Santiago adds energy to Dinos squad

Ezeohah Santiago arrived in Calgary in Fall of 2019, and the 3rd year Trinidadian via Oakville, ON proceeded to impress Dinos coaches with his fast-paced, powerful game, and his up-beat contagious personality. ‘Ez’ was a starter or 6th man on the 18-2 Dinos, and averaged 13 ppg/ 3 rebs, including a 20 pt, 2nd night sweep of UBC in Vancouver to kick-off the schedule.

He suffered an injury in the last game at Nationals the following March, and spent most of the next 12 months working to rehabilitate. His hard work has paid off, and we look for Ezeohah to be a big contributor for the ’21-’22 team when they resume work-outs this Summer.

We Dinos from 70 decades of the Men’s Basketball program can be proud as we read his story as told in the UC Alumni publication, ‘Energized by You’. Ez’s pride in being a Dino shines through, and the role of alumni in the strengthening of the program receives this young man’s enthusiastic endorsement.

Ezeohah Santiago ... Finding balance — on and off the court

Ezeoha Santiago spent much of his youth crisscrossing the Americas — from Ontario to Trinidad and Tobago, then back to Ontario and on to Texas — but it wasn’t until he arrived in Calgary that he truly appreciated that famous Canadian affability.

“Everyone says how nice Canadians are, and Calgary is five times that,” says Santiago, who first visited the city in 2018. He was nearing graduation from Lee College in Texas and considering his next move. “UCalgary was the only school I visited in Canada.
